The Australian Amusement Association (AAA).

1. AAA came into being, in its present form, in November 2001, when a number of State based groups of, predominantly, mobile ride operators, agreed to combine their efforts to promote safety in the amusement industry on a National level. Membership had extended beyond mobile rides, to include smaller parks, indoor play centres and other venues.
2. AAA has members in all States and Territories of Australia and is the only National organisation with the sole priority of promoting safety in the amusement industry.
3. The common aims of AAA members are:
 - * To encourage and promote self regulation in the amusement industry
 - * To encourage and promote safety in ride operation and maintenance
 - * To encourage and promote competent and professional conduct of our individual businesses, recognising that a problem anywhere will have implications everywhere
 - * To provide a united voice, on behalf of all operators, to address the issues of the industry,
 - ~ in the preparation of Australian Standards
 - ~ in dealing with the various Government Departments that exercise jurisdiction over the industry.
4. AAA publishes an industry specific newsletter (Mobile Ride News) four times a year, as a means of informing members of issues affecting their industry. MRN acts as a forum for discussion, advertising of equipment and services and provides updates on changes to Regulations and/or Standards, so members are kept fully informed of the requirements of the various State Departments under which they work.
5. AAA organises training and educational seminars that address issues relating to safety within the industry, insurance and financial services and staff selection and training. In this way, AAA provides the support that each operator needs to develop a sustainable and profitable business. ~
6. AAA Membership is open to:
 - ~ Individuals who operate mobile or fixed rides.
 - ~ Companies who operate mobile or fixed rides
 - ~ Manufacturers and distributors of rides and equipment.
 - ~ Businesses providing services to the amusement industry.
 - ~ Any other interested person or organisation.
7. Subscription, on an annual basis, to MRN is available to other industry associations at bulk rates.
